

« MONTAGNE À VALCOURT » TRAIL

Length : 11.6 km

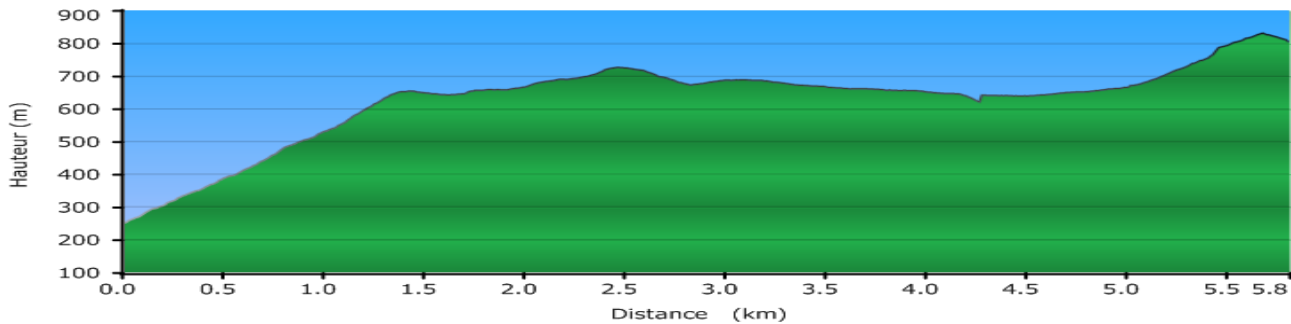

Type: round-trip

Difficulty level: difficult

Elevation: 580 metres

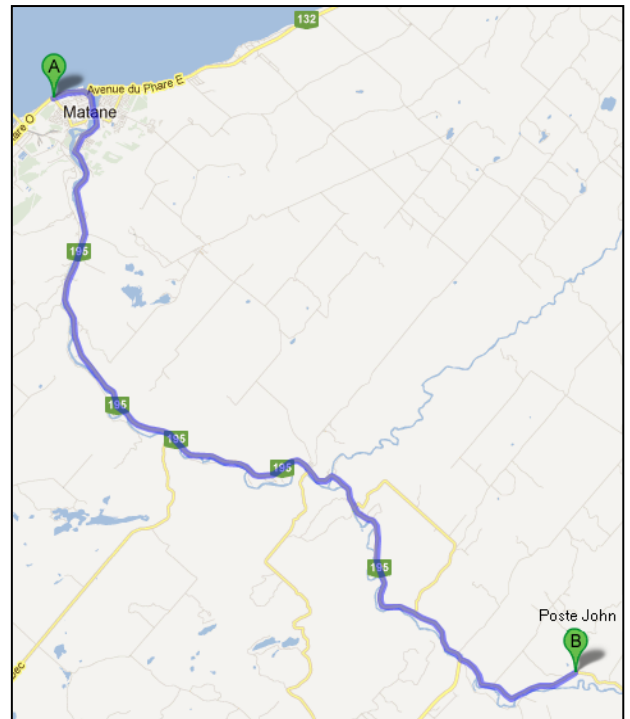

Starting point: IAT junction with the route 1, situated at about a hundred metres west from the barrage of the Matane lake (25km from the John registration centre (Accueil John))

PROFILE OF THE HIKE

DESCRIPTION OF THE HIKE

From the starting point, head north on the IAT. The climb is steep and constant for the first 2,5 kilometres. Afterwards, the trail is punctuated with small climbs and descents, goes through Route 4 and reaches the “Montagne à Valcourt” campsite. Head north (right) on this access and you will find the campsite 150 metres further. From the campsite, keep going on this old route towards the north and reach Route 4 of the Matane wildlife reserve, 500 metres further. Cross the road and on the other side, the trail goes into the forest. You then have to climb a steep and constant hill for 750 metres and reach the top of the “Montagne à Valcourt”. Retrace your steps to get back to the starting point.

LOCALISATION

From Matane, get on the 195 for approximately 35 kms. After the St-René village, turn to your left on the secondary route which brings you to the Matane wildlife reserve. There is only 5 kms left before the John registration centre.
